The Tractor That Stays

IT is pretty generally accepted now that the farm power of the future will be generated by kerosene and other low-grade, low-priced fuels. A tractor that operates successfully on these fuels, insuring dependable power at draw-bar and belt, is the tractor that will stay because it will pay.

International 8-16 Tractor has established its reputation for satisfactory performance in the school of experience. It has passed successfully through long and rigid tests under actual field conditions in all sections of the country.

Belt work is becoming more and more important. The use of small threshers, ensilage cutters, etc., combined with a suitable tractor, is making the farmer more and more independent.

All of this emphasizes the value to you of an International 8-16 tractor that is designed to do tip-top belt work as well as taking care of field and road jobs.

ONE-PIECE DRESS

Blue Serge Outfit Has Lost None of Its Popularity.

Favorite Frock Is Simpler This Season—Many of Them Have Little or No Trimming.

The blue serge one-piece dress has lost nothing of its general popularity. It is, perhaps, simpler this year, for very many of them have little or no trimming. There is the blue serge coat dress which is a stunning thing when it is well done. One of them was made with a wrapping sort of collar trimmed only with two wide folds of the serge itself. There were three-quarter length sleeves with wide cuffs formed from the same grouping of folds. And the dress then opened at the left side where a diagonal line formed the opening, and the whole thing was held in place by a narrow tied belt of the serge. You can see that there was not a single bit of relief in the shape of trimming or colored facing, but the gown was smart and its chic was helped along by the addition of an entirely dark blue hat made of a soft draped French faille.

There is a tendency to trim many of the serge dresses with bands of red, either of braid or of a soft duvetyn that looks like flannel or with facings of silk applied in some way. This is a touch that is always good with blue serge, and it livens up a dark gown without making it in any way conspicuous.

Most of the new coat suits are made to close in front with link buttons, so that they have the effect of just meeting instead of buttoning over, as was always necessary in the past. This gives an open and informal line at the front that is very becoming.

Trimming of Embroidery in Gold and Rose on Beige Wool Coat Dress.

The serge suits that combine a one-piece dress with a cape are one of the newest combinations and certainly one of the most becoming that women have worn for a long time past. There were some of full length, some that ended at a three-quarter line and others that, like the French ones, were quite short. These shorter ones have a tendency to chop in two the shorter figures, but they are sweet looking and no woman with the possibility of obtaining one will want to be without it.

IN RED AND WHITE GINGHAM

With ruffings of white organdie, this is a delightfully cool and crisp outfit. It is youthful, too.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF

With serge skirts are worn hip-length jackets of quilted India silk.

A red and white checked gingham frock, with bindings and pipings of the red, is a distinctive style.

A touch of black cleverly used is one of the best things to give character to gray. It must, however, be cleverly used.

Hemstitching is a popular trimming for cotton and linen frocks, and a pretty conceit is the use of several contrasting shades of threads.

For the little girl of three to five or six years, colored dotted swiss seems the most approved fabric for dress-up frocks. Sometimes a trimming of plain color or white organdie finishes the frock.

Voile is the most popular fabric selection for the sheer, lingerie blouse, and cotton fabrics have slumped so in price that very fine weaves can be had at reasonable figures. Often no trimming is used except hand-drawn work, hemstitching and perhaps groups of little French knots.

LONGER IN BACK THAN FRONT

Skirts in New Style Afforded Interesting Note in the Recent Paris Openings.

Recent openings by Parisian modistes revealed the quirks in new styles and reversions to old styles.

Skirts that were much longer in back than in front struck a new fashion note. Panels in uneven lengths gave this same varying line at the hem.

Many of the gowns had all the trimming on the front, and very little in back. Plain draperies in back contrasted oddly with flower trimmed overdresses in front. The new trimmings are wood embroidery—narrow strips of wood, painted red, and strung in borders to trim a blue serge gown—and black ivy garlands used on a beige afternoon dress.

Few evening gowns were shown without picture hats.

DECORATIONS FOR THE HAIR

Gold Ribbon and Braid, Jet Ornaments Fastened to Velvet, Bronze Articles Afford Good Effect.

Color contrast is a good rule for making the headdress becoming. Black hair is set off with gold ribbon or braid, while auburn locks are stunning with jet ornaments fastened to a velvet bandeau. Bronze ornaments are likewise stunning for the titan-toned coiffure. Bronze paint will quickly coat all sorts of appropriate ornaments to make a headdress, such as flowers, leaves, grasses, jewelry and feathers. A silver wreath of small flowers or just plain leaves is lovely on black hair. Golden hair is beautiful with pale-green turquoise or Dresden effects in ribbon ornaments. Turquoise velvet caught with sparkling rhinestone slides is another suggestion for hair ornamentation.

Prevent Runners.

Silk stockings that are the least bit too short should have the hem ripped out at once. It will not ravel. But if worn too short, the garter will pull the stockings tight and it is just as apt to begin to drop stitch at the heel or about the ankle as at the garter top. A row of stitching below where the garter is fastened will keep the hose from laddering from the top downward.

MOORISH SWAGGER IN PARIS

Oriental Note is Creating Interest in France; Artificial Flowers Play Part in Picture.

If the fashionable women of Paris adopt the Moorish style of dress, which is dominant in the new spring vogues now being shown by the dressmakers in Paris, they will be seen hiding their hair under turbans and learning to walk with a swinging motion of the hips, says the Daily Mail.

The oriental note shows itself not only in the brightly colored turbans and in scarfs and sashes, but also in the use of sequins as ornaments for evenings gowns. Artificial flowers of gaudy color and great size are favorite trimmings.

USE OF CHIFFON IN SKIRTS

Two Shades of Pink Material Provide Combination That Is Pretty and Pleasing.

Two shades of pink chiffon—one a deep rose and the other a pale coral—make a very pretty skirt. Where the bands of the darker shade are inserted, narrow bands of shiny, pale-blue velvet satin are hemstitched into the chiffon on each side with silver threads.

The quaint, tight-fitting bodice shows a most interesting application of the satin bands on the picturesque fichu. This is attained by having the two tones of chiffon outlined by the blue violet satin, which gives a most delightful appearance. The bodice itself is fashioned from two-toned satin.

In rose and white it possesses a certain silvery effect. The bright side of the satin is used for the corsage, which is drawn tightly to one side.

The girdle shows the pale side of the satin. This, however, is further enriched with a narrow band of turquoise satin as well as two magnificent flowers. One is originated in orange yellow, while the other is a rose-colored creation.

Dainty Cakes.

Roll into some pastry dough some finely chopped raisins and nuts, cut the dough in fancy shapes and bake, or sprinkle some dough with currants, cut out in diamond shape, some red sugar over the top and bake, or add some spices and sugar to the dough, cut in small rounds and bake. Any kind of preserves, jam, mincemeat or apple sauce may be converted in a few minutes into a small tart, made by laying preserves in the center of the pastry dough, folding over and securely pressing the edges.

Removing Fruit Stains.

Boiling water, without soap, is successful in removing fresh fruit and berry stains from washable materials. Stretch the soiled spot tightly over something and hold the kettle of boiling water some three or four feet above it and pour so that the water strikes the material with some force.

A FEW GOOD SALADS.

There is no salad so well liked as a crisp green lettuce with a good highly-seasoned salad dressing.

Kidney Bean Salad.—Cut one bunch of celery into small pieces, add one large onion, also cut fine, ten small sweet pickles cut in small pieces and one can of kidney beans. Serve with the following dressing: One-half cupful each of vinegar and sugar, one egg beaten well, teaspoonful of mustard mixed with one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of cayenne; mix and cook together until thick.

Banana Delight Salad.—Take one-half pound box of marshmallows, one cupful of whipping cream, five bananas. Whip the cream, add the bananas sliced and the marshmallows cut in quarters; a few tablespoonfuls of diced pineapple is an improvement and if the marshmallows are soaked for an hour in pineapple juice the flavor is greatly improved. This salad may be served on head lettuce garnished with a cherry.

Egyptian Salad.—Cut firm, ripe tomatoes in halves, having as many as there are people to serve. Remove the pulp and put into a mixing bowl with equal parts of chopped cabbage and one-half the amount of chopped celery. Season with salt, pepper and sugar. Mix the ingredients and fill the halves of the tomatoes, after mixing well with a good mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce.

Pear Salad.—Take halves of canned pears, arrange on head lettuce and garnish with balls of cream cheese seasoned with chopped pimentoes. Make a dressing of the pear juice, a good oil and a seasoning of vinegar, salt and pinch of sugar.

A salad which may be used on potato, lettuce, or in fact almost any salad mixture is Thousand Isle dressing, using any chopped vegetable in a mayonnaise dressing.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

A small piece of round steak if put through the meat grinder will, when added to potatoes, make a good sustaining dish for three of four portions. To a cupful of the ground meat take four medium-sized potatoes, put them through the meat grinder with one small onion or with a portion of fresh green pepper, if the onion is not liked. Cook in a frying pan with a small piece of suet, or add a tablespoonful or two of beef fat to the hot frying pan and turn in the chopped potatoes; season well with salt and pepper, stir and cook until nearly done, then add the meat well seasoned and cover; cook until the potatoes seem well done. Brown on the bottom, turn and brown, then roll out on a hot platter like an omelet. Garnish with parsley. This dish is satisfying and attractive.

Salmon Omelet.—Beat six eggs thoroughly, add six tablespoonfuls of milk, mixed with one tablespoonful of flour, salt, pepper and onion salt to taste. Have a half-pound can of salmon well flaked, with skin and bones removed. To this add twelve chopped, stuffed olives, salt, paprika and onion salt. Mix and turn into a well-buttered, hot omelet pan. Cook until well done underneath, then finish on the upper rack of the oven. Serve on a hot platter.

Casserole of Rice and Meat.—Cook two-thirds of a cupful of rice with a teaspoonful of salt in three cupfuls of boiling water. Line a casserole or baking dish with the cooked rice. Take two or three cupfuls of ground meat seasoned to taste and softened with gravy. Fill the lined dish with the meat to an inch from the top and cover with a layer of rice. Bake in a moderate oven one-half hour. Serve hot.

Waldorf Salad.—Take one cupful of chopped nuts, two cupfuls of chopped apples, two cupfuls of celery cut in bits, one small onion; mix and serve on leaf lettuce after mixing with mayonnaise.

Chocolate Bavarian Cream.—Soak one-eighth of a box of gelatine in one-eighth cupful of cold water. Grate one-half ounce of chocolate; melt and add to gelatine one-half cupful of milk, three-eighths cupful of sugar; cook until smooth. Add when cool and thick one-half cupful of whipped cream. Pour into molds and chill. Flavor with vanilla and add a little salt.

SUFFERING OF A LIFETIME ENDED

"Words Can't Express Gratitude I Feel Toward Tanlac," Says Mrs. Burrington.

"I remember when I was a child I was kept on a strict diet of lime water and milk for weeks and I have been in constant distress all these years. I suffered terribly from bloating and had to be very careful of what I ate. I became so weak and nervous I could hardly go about my housework and was in a miserable condition.

"About two years ago my husband got such splendid results from Tanlac he insisted on my taking it and the medicine wasn't but a little while in ridding me of my troubles. It gave me a splendid appetite, and I could enjoy a good hearty meal, even things I hadn't dare touch before, without any fear of it troubling me.

"Then I had the influenza and became dreadfully sick and weak, but my stomach kept in good order and it only took four bottles of Tanlac to build me up again to where I'm now feeling better than at any time I can remember. I have gained eleven pounds in weight, too, and words can't express the gratitude I feel toward Tanlac. I keep Tanlac in the house all the time now, for I know it is a medicine that can be depended upon."

HANDLE NEW CAR WITH MUCH CARE

After First Trip Go Over Nuts and Bolts and Make Sure They Are All Tight.

MAKE FREQUENT INSPECTIONS

Driver Should Scrutinize Lubrication Chart and Familiarize Himself With Location of Every Grease Cup and Oil Hole.

It is of prime importance to handle the new car carefully. After the first trip take a wrench and go over every nut and bolt to make certian they are all tight. The engine parts should receive especial attention, for the slightest defect will result in misfiring and poor carburetion, writes William H. Stewart in New York Times. Make your inspections frequently for the first 1,000 miles until the car has worn in somewhat, then you can relax your vigilance a bit.

Make a thorough study of your instruction book. Look at the lubrication chart and familiarize yourself with the location of every grease cup and oil hole, then see that they are kept filled properly. This will insure you against worn parts or scored bearings and, incidentally, allow you to learn the lubrication system thoroughly.

New Car Is Stiff.

When an automobile is built the engine has been run but little and every part is fitted tight to make them snug after the roughness has worn off. Consequently the car is very stiff and will not show much speed until those parts wear in. So don't exceed twenty-five miles an hour until the speedometer registers 1,000 miles. By so doing each part will "find itself" and you will be perfectly safe in exceeding thirty miles per hour. If you force a car before it has obtained the 1,000 miles it will result in a noisy engine and premature repairs.

Drain off the oil every 500 miles and replace it with fresh. The quantity of grit and dirt that comes from the crank-case is usually surprising.

The bearings and pistons throw off small particles of metal which if not removed with the old oil will work into the bearings and cause trouble. Perhaps the motor will show a tendency to overheat when new. Don't let this worry you for it is merely the friction caused in wearing off the rough surface of the engine. Drive intelligently and use plenty of oil and water and soon this trouble will disappear.

Clean Body Carefully.

The body cleaning should be done very carefully for the first month or so. Use a simple flow of water, without spray or force, otherwise the finish will be marred. The longer you drive without unnecessary cleaning, the harder the varnish will become.

Do not allow the engine to race or to run when the car is standing. Self-starters are made to be used and it is good for the battery to be operated intelligently.

Keep the tires fully inflated—soft tires consume power as well as destroy themselves.

Keep the carburetor adjusted at the leanest possible mixture—a lean mixture reduces carbon deposits.

Don't try to economize by purchasing the "just as good" oil. Buy the best grade and change the supply about every 500 miles. This will be most economical in the long run.

If you follow the car driven by an expert you will notice that he maintains a constant speed; that he does not loaf along and then suddenly jump to forty miles an hour. More gasoline is used when you accelerate. Select a safe driving speed, making only gradual speed changes when it is necessary.

AUTOMATIC WARNING AT GARAGE ENTRANCE

Pedestrians Notified That Car Is Approaching.

Strong Spring Set Into Cement Floor Across Exit Gives Alarm When Weight of Machine Passes Over It on One End.

The plan of having an electric automobile horn placed in the entrance of a garage to notify pedestrians that a car is about to cross the sidewalk is not a new one, but the operation of the horn usually depends on the memory of an employee. Link motions for doing this automatically can, of course, be built in many different ways, but are likely to give trouble from being too complicated, from failure to work at the right time, or a possibility of working at the wrong time.

In the illustration, a long lever is set into the cement floor across the garage exit, having underneath it a strong spring, so that it cannot be depressed by the weight of a man anywhere upon it, or by the weight of a car, except as a wheel crosses its outer end. The end near the hinge is sunk flush with the door. A simple link motion pushes a button which connects the horn either to a battery of dry cells, or to the six-volt testing mains, which are available in many garages.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

WORKING WITH OTHERS.

LESSON TEXT—I Cor. 12:4-27.

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular.—I Cor. 12:27.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—I Kings 5: 1-12; Neh. 3:1-32; 4:15-23.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Helping One Another.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Team Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Co-operation or Competition.

This Scripture pictures the church, the body of Christ, under the figure of the human body. The topic "Working With Others" can only have application to Christians working with each other; for it is as members of the body of Christ that this relationship and obligation are set forth. The church is an organism, not merely an organization. As such it is:

I. One Body (vv. 12-20).

As a body it has many members, each with a definite ministry or function. Many members are essential to a body or organism. So it is with the church. Each member has its own gift and office. The proof of this oneness is that by the sovereign act of the Holy Spirit all believers are constituted one body (v. 13). A multiplicity of organisms does not make a body, but a multiplicity of members with their separate functions. There is no room for jealousy or discontentment among them (vv. 15, 16). It would be as reasonable for the foot to complain of its lot and refuse to function as a foot, as for one member of a church to envy the place of another. A deacon who is such by the appointment of God should not complain that he is not a minister. The church needs its foot-members, that is, those who are swift to run on its errands; it needs its eye-members, who are quick to perceive opportunities for service; it needs its ear-members, who are quick to hear the call to duty; it needs its tongue-members, who can speak forth the message of truth; it needs its hand-members to perform its many deeds of kindness. Each member of the church has its place by the sovereign will of God (v. 18). If his were realized there would be the most efficient co-operation among the members of the church. The pastor would faithfully do the work of a pastor; the minister, the work of a minister, the teacher, the work of a teacher, etc.

II. The Mutual Dependence of the Members of the Body (v. 21).

They must co-operate for the life and service of the body. As the foot cannot dispense with the head, the eye with the hand, etc., so in the church, even the most highly gifted are dependent upon those of the lower order. Self-conceit and pride are as much out of place on the part of the highest in ability as of the lowest. In fact, a sober realization of this will do away with selfish pride.

III. The Least Attractive Members Are the Most Necessary (vv. 22, 23).

In the human body the heart is of more vital importance than the tongue. So in the church prayer is of much more importance than the gift of eloquence. Many examples could be given of those who wrestled with God in the closet, doing more for the cause of Christ than those who shone forth most conspicuously in the public eye. The lungs are never seen or heard, yet without them the tongue could not utter a sound.

IV. The Different Members Have Been Adjusted by God (vv. 24, 25).

So perfectly has this been done that if each performs its own function there will be harmony in the body. All schism in the church is due to failure of one member to perform its duty because of envy of the position of another. By considering Christ the head and obeying Him all strife and division in the church will be eliminated.

V. Members Are Sympathetically Related (vv. 25-27).

One member should have the same care for the other as for itself. The eye has the same concern for the foot as it has for itself; so the most eloquent has the same solicitude for the humblest member as for itself. This is true because the suffering of the one is the suffering of the other; the honor of the one is the honor of the other; the sorrow of the one is the sorrow of the other; the property of the one is the property of the other; the shame and disgrace of the one is the shame and disgrace of the other. This is true because there is a common life which is derived from and directed by its head, Jesus Christ (Eph. 5:23).

Expedient Useless.

In ordinary daily life we use expediency and compromise. The half-loaf policy rules. But there are deeps in our nature, and great unwritten laws. We are not always conscious of them ourselves. But now and again great decisions are forced upon us, the surface rubbish of life is swept away and then we discover the laws that recognize no expediency, that bid us dismiss satan with contempt even though he offer us the kingdoms of the world for serving him. Temptation ceases when men reach this point. Here nothing matters but truth and righteousness. All tyrannies are helpless here.—J. Morgan Gibbon.

Our True Attitude.

Our true attitude is that of men who think of an immortality which is already ours. Today is a part of our inheritance. This life, which often seems so trival and discouraging, is a part of the eternal life with God. We are to find its values by associating it with the durable and eternal things.—Zion's Herald.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Get Ready for Hot Weather By Purifying the Blood

Many people simply melt in summer. They can't work or enjoy life. They lack vitality. Ten to one their blood is impoverished.

Rich, wholesome blood is the basis of vitality. If you have it, you sturdily withstand summer temperatures. But if your blood is poor, loaded with poisons that should be cast out, you are limp and useless in "shirt-sleeve" weather.

NO NEED FOR EARLY DEATH

Full Life May Be Assured to Thousands Who Would Take Trouble to Earn It.

The death rate among males in this country is twice as great at forty as it is at twenty, according to The Nation's Business. This means that 50 per cent of the vital resistance is gone at that early age, an age when a man is supposed to be at the height of his power, an age when his vitality should be at least equal to that of a man of twenty. Why isn't it? Infections, poisons, mental strain, physical inactivity, too much food, too little food, badly balanced diet—a long list of causes, most of them traceable to the widespread and fallacious notion that a man can have health without working for it.

No man need accept the physical limitations which apparently doom so many to hit the downhill trail almost before they have come to the age that should endow them with the fullest physical and mental power. Right living and right remedial measures checked up and kept right by means of periodic examinations, form a combination that would insure a full life to thousands who have long since given up hope of such a thing.

What Did She Mean?

Edith—"Jack says he worships the ground I walk on." Miss Ryval—"Well, dear, he isn't crowded for space."

A ninety-mile walk on snowshoes was accomplished by a Canadian woman last winter.

The individual who keeps his mouth shut seldom lives to regret it.

BOUNDARY DRAWN BY NATURE

Caucasus Range Seems to Form Natural Dividing Line Between the Two Great Continents.

The Caucasus range, one of the most remarkable of all geological phenomena, is the boundary between Europe and Asia, and an almost impenetrable wall which can be crossed by vehicles or horsemen in only two places, known as the Dariel and the Manisson passes. From the beginning of history until the middle ages it was the boundary of the world, writes William Eleroy Curtis, in "Around the Black Sea." Beyond, all was mystery and fable, and for that reason the ancients made the Caucasus the scene of much mythological activity and the home of many marvels. They called the country Colchis, and it was there that Jason and the Argonauts found the Golden Fleece. Prometheus was chained to one of the peaks by the gods to punish him for giving fire to the mortals.

The first Europeans to find their way through the rocky labyrinths were Greek and Genoese traders, who crawled through the canyons on foot in the middle ages in search of customers.

He Corrects Them.

"Our first impressions," says a philosopher, "are full of errors." But old Father Time is a good proof-reader.

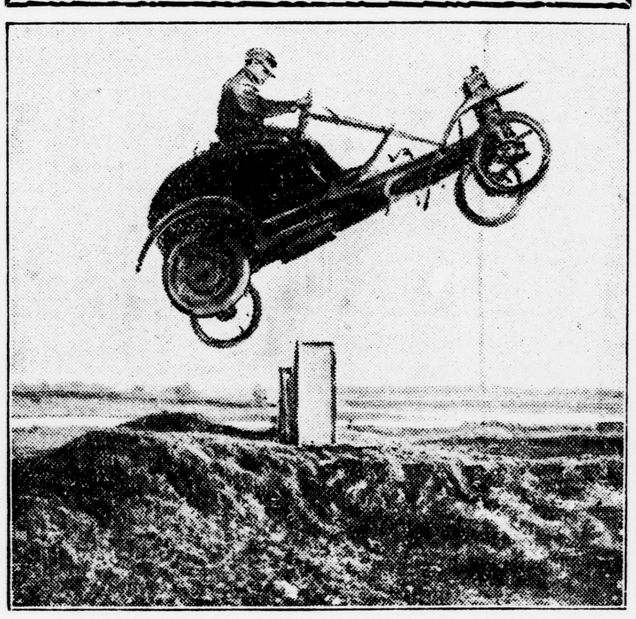
CAR LEAPS OVER OBSTRUCTIONS



A new invention by M. Gauthier, a well-known French automobile engineer, makes it possible for any light car to leap through the air over obstructions. The device in the rear of the machine does the trick. The photo shows a test car, equipped with the Gauthier device, making a high leap in Paris recently. The device is controlled from the chauffeur's seat.

Preventing Back Pressure.

It is necessary to keep exhaust pipes and muffler clean to prevent the burned gases from exerting a back pressure on the piston while the gases are being expelled from the cylinder which would cause a waste of power.

Fender Noise.

When vibration has caused a more or less extensive crack in a fender there results a sharp, crackling noise that is very annoying and often is difficult to locate.

In Japan, at a particular crossing in the Ginza, which is the shopping district of Tokyo, a flagman, a traffic officer and six, seven or eight policemen with swords are stationed to direct traffic.

More than a hundred cities and towns throughout the United States have erected land beacons as an aid to motorists. The standardized color signaling, as in the case of the railroads, red, yellow and green lights are flashed by these "lighthouses."

PLEA FOR PERSONAL PRONOUN

Argument of Humane Education Society Relating to School Children and Animals.

The Humane Education society of Pennsylvania is seeking to have the school children taught to speak of animals with personal instead of impersonal pronouns. The society fears that if children say "it" and "which" and "that" for their pets they will regard them as they do the lifeless train of cars, the soulless box of blocks, the witless ball or drum or sailboat. They will regard a tender little animal as though "it" were stuffed with invulnerable leather or sawdust; they will drag "it" about and bully-rag and maul "it" as though "it" had no feelings; they will degrade the animate creature to the level of the mere automaton started with a key and active only till the cogs run down.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mr. Gloom Knew.

"Musicians are sadly underpaid!" carped the wild-haired man. "I play trombone in a jazz orchestra, and what do you suppose my salary is? Have you any idea what an expert jazz trombonist should get?" "Oh, yes," replied J. Fuller Gloom. "'The wages of sin is death.'"—Judge.

Her Aim Was Good.

Cholly—"Blinkers' sweetheart is a brick." Percy—"I know it. I heard that she threw herself at him."

WHY MRS. LOT LOOKED BACK

Reason Explained, but Today It Is the Man Who Usually Does the Turning.

The mystery of why Lot's wife turned around, womanlike, after being warned specifically not to, was explained by Alexander Black, novelist, at a dinner of the Society of Arts and Science, New York.

Mr. Black said Mrs. Lot merely wanted to see if she was being followed by a man.

The subject of profound debate was "Marriage Is a Success. Yes? No?" It was discussed with lights turned low under red shades.

Mr. Black said it is now the man who does the turning around and looking back, "usually slightly down.

"Over their faces come curiously mingled expressions of bewilderment and amazement.

"I have seen them turned into cynics or into poets. I have seen them turned from their direction and struck by automobiles."

Foolkiller Never Lacks Victims.

The old-fashioned man who sought the gas leak with a candle now has a rival in the girl who stands near an open fire while cleaning her gloves with gasoline.

Too Much Agreement.

Edith—"I think Jack is simply wonderful." Ella—"Yes, the trouble is he thinks so, too."

DESERT HERO KNOWN TO FEW

Dog That, With Its Master, Was Savior of Many Lives, Well Cared For in Its Old Age.

Rufus, the dog hero of the desert, who has saved many lives, is ending his declining days in a dog sanatorium at Pasadena, Cal., where he is well cared for. The end of the dog is not far off, says Our Dumb Animals in a recent issue. He is spent and feeble after his many long and weary journeys over the burning and blinding sands with his pioneer master. He will no doubt soon fall asleep.

Lou Westcott Beck and Rufus were intrepid pioneers in a life-saving project that received scanty support and tardy recognition. Together they fared forth on their mission of mercy, Beck carrying signboards and cans of paint, Rufus laden with saddlebags of restoratives and poison antidote. While the man set up the guideposts, or painted the water signs, the dog succored many a prospector who otherwise would have died miserably from delirium of thirst or the venom of snake bites.

The work of these two great benefactors is over. Beck died in July, 1917, and since then the government has appropriated one hundred thousand dollars to carry on the project that he and his devoted dog started.

Rufus will be well provided for by a veterinarian who was a personal friend of Beck's. The old dog's years of hardships, of life-saving service on the desolate wastes, are not without their reward. His many friends who used to see him on the streets and pat him with approval as he started out on his desert trips will not forget him in his old age.

ENCOURAGE BIRDS TO NEST

Only Through Them Can the Many Insect Pests Be Kept Within the Bounds of Safety.

Of all the ways of ridding our gardens, parks and farms of the insect pests that destroy fruit, grain, and even trees, none is so effective as the encouragement of birds. Most birds are naturally insect eaters, and it is really amazing to count the number of beetles, bugs, caterpillars and grubs that a small bird will devour in a day.

Andre Godard, a French naturalist, remarks in a recent number of La Nature (Paris) that agricultural plagues invariably follow the disappearance of birds, and he notes that the forests of Hungary were saved by the placing of many artificial nests to attract the feathered enemies of the grubs that were destroying the trees.

It is true that a few birds eat fruit and grain, but even these prefer insects, and it is probably true in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred that the bird which seems to be eating the fruit is really pecking at an

Here We Are For Good-Old-Summer-Time

Silence is golden at the movies but a good clothier's values cannot wear rubber heels

There's a time and place for everything. Last Summer it took all a merchant's time and ingenuity to get goods to sell.

This season with the supply increased it's time to get out the bunting again and strike up the band.

Everybody wants the Maxime silencer taken off the values and in every line from groceries to go-carts the stores that are letting up on the prices and letting out on the values are getting the business.

That's the platform on which every article in this Summer stock is prepared for sale.

Munsing Union Suits

Where Are You Bound?

—in Munsing Union suits there is no binding.

Every wearer of underwear knows that when a union suit takes the notion into its seams to pinch—that it can be as binding as a first mortgage.

But every man who wears a "Munsing" knows that it couldn't bind if commandeered by the government.

The difference is in the fit.

Our best selling number this month is a fine very light weight gauze garment that speaks in a deep dramatic value voice at $2 and $2.50.

Others at 75c, $1.00 and $1.50.

But the point is—if you buy a Munsing you're bound to get a fit.

Whooping Cough

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take

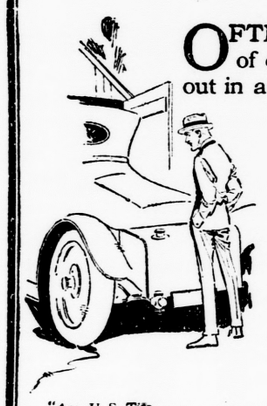
THE U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—and a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season.

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S. Patent Office.

How you can measure tire value in 1921 —



"Any U. S. Tire is a universal full-money's worth."

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "job-lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hard-pan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U. S. Tires to be worked off—no accumulations—no forced selling of any U. S. brand—no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Each one gets its share of U. S. Tires. There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U. S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U. S. Tire anywhere—in a community of 500 people or even less—and you get a fresh, live tire of current production—with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

"The different tire views that come out in a chance talk."

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth—backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

FLIER FALLS WIFE LOOKS ON

Major Abbey Has Hairbreath Escape

CLIMAX TO AIR CIRCUS

Plane Smashed To Bits—Pilot Steps Out Of The Wreckage And Asks For A Cigarette.

New York.—The ultimate in narrow escapes from death was demonstrated Sunday to a crowd of 10,000 persons at Mitchel Field, Mineola, when Major Henry Abbey, Jr., commandant of the field, crashed to earth while attempting a landing, smashed his plane into an unrecognizable wreck, and survived uninjured.

The wreck was the biggest thrill of an afternoon in which everything there is of speed and daring in flying, from parachute jumping to acrobatics, was unfolded by the officers and men of the field.

The Major, after vainly chasing Lieut. John T Roullet, in a faster plane over a 45-mile course, glided down over the hangars and close above the crowd, among which was his wife, in an automobile. He had almost landed his little one-seated SE-5 biplane, when a puff of wind got under one wing. The plane sideslipped, and the Major, seeing that it was likely to roll over, opened the throttle wide.

Instantly the ship shot ahead. One wing was still perilously near the earth and the other high in the air. For a split second the plane climbed upward, but the inclination was too great, and another puff caused a slip downward. The wing hooked into the turf. The nose of the plane, which was traveling at 75 or 80 miles an hour, crashed into the ground. The plane cartwheeled over the field, and the motor tore itself loose. The machine bounded back onto its wheel again, totally smashed. An ambulance and chemical engine started for the wreck, dimly seen amid clouds of smoke and dust. Mrs. Abbey, a hundred yards away, sat silent, watching.

Then out of the mass of splintered wood Major Abbey climbed uninjured. There was a wild yell from the pilots and mechanics and a general rush for the plane. The Wright motor although out of the plane, thundered on, for, somehow, its wiring had survived the crash. The commandant switched it off, borrowed a cigarette and hastened to his wife to assure her he was intact.

"Well, I guess I contributed something to this show," he remarked, cheerfully. On taking an inventory he found he had barked the skin on two knuckles, dug a small hole in his knee, ruined a new pair of breeches and swallowed a little motor oil.

MRS. ABBOTT ADAMS RESIGNS.

Will Quit Department Of Justice June 1.

Washington.—Mrs. Annette Abott Adams, of San Francisco, who has written many of the liquor opinions for the Department of Justice during the past year, has tendered her resignation to President Harding, effective June 1, it was said at the department. She is the only woman who has ever held the position of Assistant Attorney-General and was appointed by President Wilson nearly a year ago.

WILL HASTEN LIQUOR SALES.

Agents Are Ordered To Make Wholesalers Speed Up.

Washington.—Federal prohibition directors were instructed by Commissioner Kramer to hasten the disposal of the remaining stocks of liquor held by wholesale liquor dealers and the closing out of wholesale liquor concerns throughout the country. Wholesale liquor dealers who are declining to dispose of their stocks, he said, should be reported to the Prohibition Bureau for action.

MOB HANGS WHITE MAN.

Huntsville Tenn.—Berry Boling, white and an alleged "mountain bad man," was lynched here by 50 armed men, who gained entrance to the Scott County Jail, removed him and hung him from a tree. He had been arrested on a charge of murdering Mrs. Mary Jane Harness, 30 years of age, at her home. Six months ago he was tried for the alleged murder of her husband, but a minstrial resulted.

UNITED STATES IN ALLIED COUNCILS

Decision is Reached After Cabinet Discussion

HARVEY AND WALLACE TO ACT

Not To Meddle In Europe—American Envoys Only To Sit In On Deliberations Affecting United States.

Washington. — President Harding and his Cabinet made the far-reaching decision to accept the Allied invitation that the United States once more take its place in the Allied Councils.

The decision followed a meeting of the President with his Cabinet. The session was devoted almost entirely to a consideration of the relations of the United States to the rest of the world. The action was first announced at the White House and later confirmed and elaborated at the State Department by publication of the correspondence between this Government and Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain.

The decision has been carefully reached. Administration officials have thoroughly considered every angle of our foreign relations and of American opinion as represented in the Senate and elsewhere.

The communication addressed by Premier Lloyd George to this Government for the Allies invited representation on the Allied Supreme Council, on the Allied Council of Ambassadors and on the Reparations Commission. It was decided to have representation on all. George Harvey, United States Ambassador to London, will be the "representative of the President of the United States in the deliberations of the Supreme Council."

Ambassador Wallace, until relieved by Ambassador Herrick at Paris, will be an "unofficial observer" on the Council of Ambassadors; while Roland Boyden, of Boston, will resume his task of representing the United States in an "unofficial" capacity on the Reparations Commission.

In accepting the invitation the President makes it plain, first of all, that this country proposes to maintain its traditional policy of abstention in matters of distinctly European concern, but admits American interest in proper economic adjustments and the "just settlement" of world affairs.

With this explanation and with the combined official and unofficial representation on the various Allied organizations it is believed by the Harding Administration that there will be no question of the American intention of refraining from renewing any entanglements with European governments such as were contemplated in the League of Nations covenant.

At the same time, the note of acceptance registers the determination of the Administration to participate in world affairs so far as they concern the United States, and especially to interest itself in such settlements growing out of the war.

None of the Allied organizations in whose operations the United States will thus take part in one form or another are creatures of the League, and only the Reparations Commission is a creature of the Versailles Treaty.

The Allied Supreme Council consists of the ruling heads of the Allied governments. It is merely an association of supreme chiefs for the purpose of "carrying on" in a spirit of allied solidarity. It is for this reason that Mr. Harvey is designated as the "representative of the President," but this designation also carries the further suggestion that the United States is openly aligned with the Allied Powers in the sense of an "associated nation" as it was during the war.

SUFFERED SEVEN LONG YEARS

Finally Relieved by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ravenswood, W. Va.—"For seven long years I suffered from a female trouble and inflammation so that I was not able to do my housework. I consulted several doctors but none seemed to give me relief. I read in a paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I decided to try it, and before the first bottle was gone I found great relief so I continued using it until I had taken eight bottles. Now I am very well and can do my own housework. I can gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine to suffering women."—Mrs. BERTHA LIERING, R. F. D., Ravenswood, W. Va.

The ordinary day of most housewives is a ceaseless treadmill of washing, cooking, cleaning, mending, sweeping, dusting and caring for little ones. How much harder the tasks when some derangement of the system causes headaches, backaches, bearing-down pains and nervousness. Every such woman should profit by Mrs. Liering's experience. Remember this, for over forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been restoring health.

The Voice of the Pack

By EDISON MARSHALL

Copyright, 1920, by Little, Brown & Co.

He was risking everything for the sake of speed. He gave no heed to the fallen timber that might have torn the web of his snow shoes to shreds. Because he shut out all thought of it, he had no feeling of fatigue. The fight with Cranston had been a frightful strain on muscle and nerve; but he scarcely remembered it now. His whole purpose was to return to Snowbird before the wolves lost the last of their cowardice.

The jerked venison that he had munched had brought him back much of his strength. He was wholly unconscious of his heavy pack. Never did he glide so swiftly, so softly, with such unerring step; and it was nothing more or less than a perfect expression of the iron-clad control that his steel nerves had over his muscles.

Then, through the silence, he heard the shout of the pack as the wolf had leaped at Snowbird. He knew what it meant. The wolves were attacking then, and a great flood of black, hating bitterness poured over him at the thought he had been too late. It had all been in vain, and before the thought could fully go home, he heard the dim, far-off crack of a pistol.

Was that the first of the three shots, the one she might expend on the wolves, or had the first two already been spent and was she taking the last gateway of escape? Perhaps even now Lennox was lying still on the sled, and she was standing before the ruin of her fire, praying that her soul might have wings. He shouted with all the power of his lungs across the snow.

But Snowbird only heard the soft glide of the wolves in the snow. The wind was blowing toward Dan; and while he had heard the loud chorus of the pack, one of the most far-carrying cries, and the penetrating crack of a pistol, she couldn't hear his answering shout. In fact, the wilderness seemed preternaturally still. All was breathless, heavy with suspense, and she stood, just as Dan had thought, between the ruin of her fire and the sled, and she looked with straight eyes to the oncoming wolves.

"Hurry, Snowbird," Lennox was whispering. "Give me the pistol—for that last work. We have only a moment more."

He looked very calm and brave, half-raised as he was on the sled, and perhaps a half-smile lingered at his bearded lips. And the bravest thing of all was that to spare her, he was willing to take the little weapon from her hand to use it in its last service. She tried to smile at him, then crept over to his side.

The strain was over. They knew what they had to face. She put the pistol in his steady hand.

His hand lowered to his side and he sat waiting. The moments passed. The wolves seemed to be waiting, too, for the last flickering tongue of the little fire to die away. The last of her fuel was ignited and burning out; they were crouched and ready to spring if she should venture forth after more. The darkness closed down deeper, and at last only a column of smoke remained.

It was nothing to be afraid of. The great, gray leader of the pack, a wolf that weighed nearly 100 pounds, began slowly and deliberately to set his muscles for the spring. It was the same as when the great bull elk comes to bay at the base of the cliffs; usually some one wolf, often the great pack leader, wishing to remind his followers of his might, or else some full-grown male proud in his strength, will attack alone. Because this was the noblest game that the pack had ever faced, the leader chose to make the first leap himself. It was true that these two had neither such horns nor razor-edged hoofs as the elk, yet they had eyes that chilled his heart when he tried to look at them. But one was lying almost prone, and the fire was out. Besides, the madness of starvation, intensified ten times by their terrible realization of the wound at her hip, was upon the pack as never before. The muscles bunched at his lean flanks.

But as Snowbird and her father gazed at him in fascinated horror, the great wolf suddenly smashed down in the snow. She was aware of its curious, utter collapse actually before the sound of the rifle shot that occasioned it had penetrated her consciousness. It was a perfect shot at long range; and for a long instant her tortured faculties refused to accept the truth.

Then the rifle spoke again, and a second wolf—a large male that crouched on the other side of the sled—fell kicking in the snow. The pack had leaped forward at the first death; but they halted at the second. And then terror came to them when the third wolf suddenly opened its savage lips and screamed in the death agony.

Up to this time, except for the report of the rifle, the attack had been made in utter silence. The reason was just that both breath and nervous force are needed to shout; and Dan Failing could afford to waste neither of these vital forces. He had dropped to his knee, and was firing again and again, his gray eyes looking clear and straight along the barrel, his fingers without jerk or tremor pressing again and again at the trigger, his hands holding the rifle as in a vise. Every nerve and muscle were completely in his command. The distance was far, yet he shot with deadly, amazing accuracy. The wolves were within a few feet of the girl, and a fraction's waver in the gun barrel might have sped his bullet toward her.

"It's Dan Failing," Lennox shouted as the fourth wolf died.

Then Snowbird snatched her pistol from her father's hand and opened fire. The two shells were no longer needed to free herself and her father from the agony of fangs. She took careful aim, and although a pistol is never as accurate or as powerful as a rifle, she killed one wolf and wounded another.

Frenzied in their savagery, three or four of the remaining wolves leaped at the body of one of the wounded; but the others scattered in all directions. Still Dan fired with the same unbelievable accuracy, and still the wolves died in the snow. The girl and the man were screaming now in the frenzied joy of deliverance. The wolves scurried frantically among the trees; and some of them unknowingly ran full in the face of their enemy, to be shot down without mercy. And few indeed were those that escaped—to collect on a distant ridge, and, perhaps, to be haunted in dream by a death that came out of the shadows to blast the pack.

Again the pack song would be despairing and strange in the winter nights—that age old chant of Famine and Fear and the long war of existence with only Death and Darkness in the end. And because it is the voice of the wilderness itself, the tenderfoot that camps in the evergreen forest will listen, and his talk will die at his lips, and he will have the beginnings of knowledge. And perhaps he will wonder if God has given him the thews and fiber to meet the wilderness breast to breast as Dan had met it; to remain and to fight and to conquer. And thereby his metal will be tested in the eyes of the Red Gods.

Snowbird stood waiting in the snow, arms stretched to her forester as Dan came running through the wood. But his arms were wider yet, and she went softly into them.

* * * * * * * * *

"We will take it easy from now on," Dan Failing told them, after the camp was cleared of its dead and the fire was built high. "We have plenty of food; and we will travel a little while each day and make warm camps at night. We'll have friendship fires, just as sometimes we used to build on the ridge."

"But after you get down in the valleys?" Lennox asked anxiously. "Are you and Snowbird coming up here to live?"

The silence fell over their camp; and a wounded wolf whined in the darkness. "Do you thiak I could leave it now?" Dan asked. By no gift of words

"We Will Take It Easy From Now On."

could he have explained why; yet he knew that by token of his conquest, his spirit was wedded to the dark forests forever. "But heaven knows what I'll do for a living."

Snowbird crept near him, and her eyes shone in the bright fire light. "I've solved that," she said. "You know you studied forestry—and I told the supervisor at the station how much you knew about it. I wasn't going to tell you until—until certain things happened—and now they have happened. I can't wait another instant. He said that with a little more study you could get into the forest service—take an examination and become a ranger. You're a natural forester if one ever lived, and you'd love the work."

"Besides," Lennox added, "it would clip my Snowbird's wings to make her live on the plains. My big house will be rebuilt, children. There will be fires in the fire place on the fall nights. There is no use of thinking of the plains."

"And there's going to be a smaller house—just a cottage at first—right beside it," Dan replied. He could go back to his forests, after all. He wouldn't have to throw away his birthright, fought for so hard; and it seemed to him no other occupation could offer so much as that of the forest rangers—those silent, cool-nerved guardians of the forest and keepers of its keys.

For a long time Snowbird and he stood together at the edge of the firelight, their bodies warm from the glow, their hearts brimming with words they could not utter. Words always come hard to the mountain people. They are folk of action, and Dan, rather than to words, trusted to the yearning of his arms.

"We're made for each other, Snowbird, darling," he told her breathlessly at last. "And at last I can claim what I've been waiting for all these months."

He claimed it; and in open defiance to all civil law, he collected fully 100 times in the next few minutes. But it didn't particularly matter, and Snowbird didn't even turn her face. "Maybe you've forgotten you claimed it when you first came back, too," she said.

So he had. It had completely slipped his mind, in the excitement of his fight with the wolf pack. And then while Lennox pretended to be asleep, they sat, breathless with happiness, on the edge of the sled and watched the dawn come out.

They had never seen the snow so lovely in the sunlight.

[THE END.]

ECSTASY IN THE SALESROOM

Goaded "Prospect" Finally Forced, in Self-Defense, to Rise to the Occasion Herself.

"But this is such a sweet little model, honey. Perfect on you. Look at the quality of this duvetyn, dearie. Now, honey, did you ever see such lines?"

There may have been heroes of grand opera who could make love with the fluency and intensity of a salesgirl drawing near to a sale, but no expert exists whose ardor can thus flame when the actual moment of decision between the higher and the lower comes, writes Marian Storm in the New York Evening Post.

"Lots of little girls that buy these little suits just leave off their little blouses and wear them like little one-piece dresses. Now, this little style, dearie, was made for you. Look, honey, not a wrinkle in back. Isn't it lovely on her?"—appeals to another enraptured creature—"Isn't she just the little girl to wear this little model? Of course, not every one can wear this little suit, dearie. It takes a figure, honey, just like you've got. I wear the same suit myself.

"Dearie, in two weeks you couldn't buy this little suit for half the price again. Isn't it lovely on her? I said, honey, when you came in: 'There's the girl that can wear that little special we got today.' Now turn around, dear. You won't have to do a thing to it. Length—just right, honey. Sleeves—just right, honey.

"Sweetness," she urged, at passionate climax, "don't let a little chance like this go by! Dearie, if you only ——"

"But, oh, my beloved," returned the goaded customer half fiercely. "The price! The price!"

St. Mark's Church, New York.

The site of St. Mark's church is the oldest church site in New York and has been consecrated to religious service for 260 years. Peter Stuyvesant, the Dutch governor of New Netherlands, erected the first little private chapel in 1660. He and his wife, Judith, were buried underneath the chapel. In her will she left the church to the Dutch Reformed Church of New York, providing that the tomb be preserved. The building was allowed to fall into decay until 1793, when Petrus Stuyvesant, a great-grandson, proposed to the vestry of Trinity church that an Episcopal church be erected on the site, the cornerstone of which was laid in 1795 and the church completed May 9, 1799. The steeple was added in 1829 and the porch a few years later. Since 1859 no material changes in the present appearance of the church have been made, and the church proper is identically the same as it was one hundred years ago. Peter Stuyvesant and his wife are buried in the vault beneath the porch of the church.

Barnstable's Old Bell.

In the courthouse at Barnstable, Mass., is an old bell, cracked and silent, which may be, and probably is, the oldest bell in the United States. So thinks Mr. Alfred Crocker, clerk of courts of Barnstable county. The date 1675 is still plainly visible in the photograph recently printed in the Boston Evening Transcript.

By this date, however, the old bell had seen nearly a quarter of a century of life in England before it came to America and began calling worshipers together in the church at Sandwich town. Gratitude bought the bell in England, for it came as a gift from Mrs. Peter Adolph, whose husband, Captain Adolph, was lost in the wreck of his vessel on the Massachusetts coast in 1697 despite the efforts of the people of Sandwich.

Mean Advantage.

Chairman (of public banquet)—Gentlemen, before I introduce the next speaker, there will be a short recess, giving you all a chance to go out and stretch your legs.

Guest—Who is the next speaker?

Chairman—Before telling you who he is I would rather wait until you come back.—Life.

Drawing an Audience.

Professor Letterkink—I'm delighted to see so large a gathering in the house. I never spoke to an audience of more than 40 before. Your townsmen are interested in science?

The Local Editor—Not much. But my compositor in setting up the ad of your lecture on the "Cosmic Forces," left the "s" out of "Cosmic."

Her Suspicion.

Mr. Gotham—I see a Brooklyn woman has applied to the courts for help from being loved to death by her husband, who, she says, kisses her 300 times a day.

Mrs. Gotham—Can't understand how a man can do so many wrong things that he has to apologize as much as that.

There are times when the absence of crankiness shows the absence of sense.

Lay Them Right Over the Old Shingles

WHEN your shingle roof must be replaced you need no longer suffer the houseful of dust and dirt, litter, annoyance and expense of ripping off the old shingles. Leave them where they are and lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right on top of them. Then you'll have a roof that is fireproof and everlasting; you'll get the benefit of the splendid roof insulation afforded by the old shingles and, most important of all, you will have re-roofed for the last time.

RE-ROOF FOR THE LAST TIME WITH JOHNS-MANVILLE ASBESTOS SHINGLES

Lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right over the old wooden shingles and you eliminate roofing troubles and expense for all time because Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles will last as long as your building stands. They're all mineral—nothing in them to rot or burn; they will not warp, curl or split; they never need paint; they're easy to lay and they are most attractive in appearance.

Does your roof need replacement? If so, it will pay you to get full information about this method of re-roofing with Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles. See us at once. We can do the work for you quickly, easily and economically.

Write, call or telephone today for full particulars, estimate, etc.
